By Emilia Gordon. Our lives are highly influenced by sun, moon and other planets. While all of them have a consistent impact on our lives, there are certain phases of our lives where each one of them has the strongest influence and affect our behavior and decisions. Based on this, our life can be divided into 8 periods based on astrology.

This guide to planetary cycles explains their significance in personal terms and for human civilization as a whole. With no calculations to do, it offers insight into critical life stages including emotions, growth and development, status and responsibilities, and addictions and inspirations.

There is a general understanding of modern astrology, saying that different planets affect different periods of our lives. Because of that, our life can be divided into eight phases, depending on which planet has the most substantial influence at the moment.
