Your cover letter is the place to sell your skills and show your interest in the position. It's a great chance to highlight achievements that would make you an ideal candidate for the job. Always send a cover letter with your resume unless the job listing specifically says not to do so.

Tips for Writing a Cover Letter for Your Resume. Given how a cover letter depicts how you introduce yourself to a hiring manager when applying for a job, you'd want to leave an impression that'll last. There are many ways to present yourself in a positive light, so you'd want to make sure this is reflected in your formal letter.

When writing a cover letter or resume, choose a simple format and font. Lead with your accomplishments, rather than just the things you've done. Include details of the work that's related to what you want to do next, and always proofread your resume and cover letter before submitting a job application.

Do you need to write a cover letter?When applying for a job, a cover letter should be sent or posted with your resume or curriculum vitae.A cover letter is a (typically) one-page document that explains to the hiring manager why you are an ideal candidate for the job.
