One of the key shifts in instruction called for by the national state standards is the focus on a student's ability to use evidence from texts to answer inference-based questions. This title provides teachers with the perfect resource for allowing students to practice a close and careful reading of texts. In-depth questioning leads students to a deeper understanding of each passage, and students are required to refer to the text in order to give evidence-based answers.

Teach students how to glean information while reading factual and literary texts. Each activity features a passage to read which is followed by comprehension questions. Applying The Standards Evidence-Based Reading by Carson-Dellosa Grade 2
