Template Draft: Whenever Infusionsoft detects a previously unsaved template, you will see this dialog. You can continue from a previous template, or simply click No, start from scratch. Enter a Title. You will only see the title from within Infusionsoft. Title your templates in a way that will allow you to search and find them easily.

It was decided that (spoiler alert) we needed to start creating Infusionsoft by Keap email templates to give people a head start. After researching countless email designs, I was able to pick out three that seemed to be very common across all industries.

Infusionsoft Email Templates. We have an experienced team of over 100 developers who help you in designing, coding and integrating your Infusionsoft Newsletter and email templates. From classic builders to content builders, we have expertise in providing a custom template built right for your Infusionsoft editor.

Go to the email template you want to personalize in the template library (Marketing > Templates) Click on the Insert tab. Click on the Merge button to open the merge fields. The first list shows merge field categories. Click on a category name to view the merge fields available.

Infusionsoft Email Template Title. I've created an email here for an open house within Infusionsoft. I want to be able to use it for future open houses that I have. What I'm going to go ahead and do now that I've created the email, is go to the upper right corner and click where it says Save As a Template.

Make your email marketing easier AND more effective If you work in small business, your to-do list is a mile long...and there are only so many hours in a day. You simplify what you can.

In Infusionsoft, you can create an email template from HTML source code using the tool's code builder. You can also create the code using an HTML code editor (e.g., Dreamweaver) and paste it into Infusionsoft.

That's why we're giving you a short-cut: 10 sales related email templates that you can copy, paste, and use as a starting point for the messages you send to prospects. If you're using automation software, like Infusionsoft, you can set up many of these emails to be triggered automatically by an action like a purchase or previous email.

Each of these sales email templates is just the start, of course. Feel free to modify and add to them to reflect your business and personal style. The more personal you make them, the more effective your emails will be.
