From another book about The Irish Potato (1914) by Jessie Pinning Rich, from the University of Texas in 1914 we have a rather more homely approach – a recipe which sounds like a great way to use up leftover potatoes - but whatever you do, don't serve them to guests if you move in polite society, it sounds a little rustic and, well, leftover.

Directions: 2. Add potatoes to the pan and mix well. Season with salt and pepper, cover and cook on very low heat for about 10 minutes. 3. Add broth, bring to boil and simmer for 25 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Remove from heat and allow to cool slightly. Purée the soup in batches in blender.

For an authentic Irish country breakfast, it doesn't get more perfect than these scones, some Irish butter, and a drizzle of honey. COLCANNON ~ Simply Recipes This colcannon is a frugal Irish dish of mashed potatoes with chopped cooked kale, green onions, milk or cream, and lots of butter.
