" That probably no human power could have relieved our alcoholism." AA Book Pg 60. Despite our best efforts, recovered AA's, doctors, helpers etc. we are not able to relieve alcoholism. This is one of the most difficult illness known to man. That's because of the unique emotional nature of the illness.

Thank you, Brent. That probably no human power could have relieved our alcoholism is THE central tenet of classical AA. It's why we, as non-believers who reject that notion, so outrage the fundamentalists in our fellowship. And you put your finger quite rightly on the page 60 syllogism that anchors the whole idea.

“That probably no human power could have relieved our alcoholism.” – The Big Book of Alcoholics Anonymous, pg. 60. With reading the above mentioned statement, we may not entirely grasp the gravity of its suggestion.

My understanding is that the role of the "higher power" in AA is to do the work in relieving a person's alcoholism. AA teaches that human power is impotent here, but divine power is not. Secular AA obviously must re-interpret this, but isn't the idea still to seek a higher power capable of relieving one's alcoholism---or at least, helping ...

Human Power Can Relieve Our Alcoholism May You Find Us Now. Human Power Can Relieve our May You Find Us Now RECOVERY Our goal is to assure suffering alcoholics that they can find sobriety in AA without having to accept anyone else's beliefs or deny their own.

Our description of the alcoholic, the chapter to the agnostic, and our personal adventures before and after make clear three pertinent ideas: (a) That we were alcoholic and could not manage our own lives. (b) That probably no human power could have relieved our alcoholism. (c) That God could and would if He were sought.

Alcoholism is not something we can learn how to solve on our own. A sick mind can't heal a sick mind, no matter how much motivation you have to recover. A mentally ill person cannot heal his or herself, and alcoholism and addiction is a mental disease. Success in the case of alcoholism is in the motivation AND the method.

Our description of the alcoholic, the chapter to the agnostic, and our personal adventures before and after make clear three pertinent ideas: (a) That we were alcoholic and could not manage our own lives. (b) That probably no human power could have re- lieved our alcoholism. (c) That God could and would if He were sought.
