Sermons from a Forgotten Age Paperback – Import, March 5, 2003 by Joseph Irons (Author)

In the new age you can believe whatever you like – and even incompatible views can be brought together if you like them. The key to a belief system is preference and pragmatism. If you like it and if it works for you then that's good enough.

Of the sermons preached mostly on Sundays and Thursdays, an average of roughly 105 per year are extant for the 30 years of his Metropolitan Tabernacle ministry, but an average of only about 70 per year for his seven New Park Street years.

Old Fashioned Spirit-Filled Preaching “But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour.” —Titus 1:3

In a world of preaching, a pastor who takes sermons from other preachers—word-for-word—without giving credit is guilty of plagiarism.

The first is when he was a teenager. Several weeks ago, we saw that despite growing up in a terribly dysfunctional family, Joseph walked with the Lord, so much so that God revealed to him a part of the future He had planned for him. Gen. 37 also tells us that Joseph's father honored him by granting him the family birthrights though he was not the firstborn son, which made him the manager of ...
